2017 Procurement
Australia Awards

Celebrating the 12th anniversary of the Procurement Australia National Conference.

The 2017 Procurement Australia Awards program aims to highlight the vital role procurement plays across the public, private, not for profit, educational and NGOs sectors and at the same time recognises and rewards the work of outstanding procurement professionals, member organisations and suppliers. The nominations are called for across Australia.

The Individual Excellence in Procurement Award
– THE JACINTA BARTLETT AWARD.

This award proudly sponsored by CIPS is open to all senior individuals across Australia, the individual Excellence in Procurement Award is inspired by the memory of Jacinta Bartlett, a highly respected member of the Victorian Local Government procurement family. Jacinta tragically lost her life in the Black Saturday bushfires and this award acknowledges her professionalism and commitment.

Judges will be looking for an individual who has consistently enhanced the way in which their organisation has procured goods and services, delivered results beyond expectation and ensured the demands of current legislation are satisfied.

CIPS proudly sponsors the Individual Excellence in Procurement Award. The winner will receive four days CIPS open training programme, value of $5000.
